Chaplin and Friends ~ Say Goodby to Hub

Ralph Barton. Charles Chaplin. Mrs. Barton.

SNAPPED ON STEPS OF DE MENOCAL MANSION

The great film comedian came to Boston with his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barton. Mrs. Barton is a composer, known in public as Germaine Tailleferre, and it was to hear one of her compositions at a Boston Symphony Orchestra performance that Chaplin came to Boston. He declared he was thrilled by it. This picture was taken just as the party started back to New York. Chaplin was chilled by Boston's March breezes. —Boston Evening American Staff Photo

CHAPLIN, LEAVING HUB, POINTS TO GRAY HAIR

Unrecognized, except at the last minute by a group of giggling girls, Charlie Chaplin, leading comic of the cinema, departed from Boston today with but one reference to his marital difficulties—and that a subtful one.

The comedian, who succeeded in being a plain citizen in the Hub for more than twenty-four hours before being placed again under the gaze of the curious, carried away with him a pair of gloveless, freezing hands, red in the cold wind that he declared "blew like razor blades."

His lone reference to Lita Grey Chaplin, the wife, was in answering a query by a reporter as to why people did not recognize him in the Hub.

Pointing to his hair, the comedian said:

"Well, just four or five years ago

Gray Wolf Hoping If Nicaragua Came Here The Ox and His Owner Digging for Money

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1927, by Star Co.

THICK SNOW along the Union Pacific tracks here in Wyoming and herds of elk in Gros Ventre and Snake River districts are threatened with starvation. The State will feed them.

West of the Utah boundary line a gray wolf stood watching the train. Standing stiff as a statue, romantic in solitude his purpose was prosaic. He hoped something to eat might be thrown from the dining car as it flew past.

Miles away, on the Mojave Desert, crows gather along the track to meet the Santa Fe express and fly miles behind the train, watching the dining car.

THE WYOMING State Tribune tells you that "the Union of Central and South America and the Antilles" has ordered a boycott against everything produced in the United States. This seems ungrateful, in spite of our occasionally foolish treatment of sister republics, when you remember that this nation and the Monroe Doctrine protect those neighbors from conquest by

SENATORS IN DEADLOCK AS CONGRESS ADJOURNS

Washington, March 4 (A.P.)—Another session of Congress passed into history today in the accompaniment of a Senate storm that swept to limbo some of the best laid plans of party leaders.

The Senate adjourned without passing the deficiency appropriation bill or the Reed resolution extending the life of the campaign funds investigating committee. A last minute effort to put through a $100,000,000 emergency resolution covering the veteran and pension items in the deficiency bill also failed.

It was Senator Walsh, Democrat,

'MALONEY NEXT!' CRIES SHARKEY; GETS $35,000

By JACK CONWAY.

New York, March 4—Bearing a gash on his lip as the only mark of battle, Jack Sharkey, winner over "Rowdi Mike" McTigue, collected his $35,000 purse at the Garden today and announced he will slap down Maloney "twice as easy as McTigue."

"Now I want Maloney," Sharkey told Tex Rickard after that impresario of Fistiana had said the battle would be staged at the Yankee Stadium in late May or early June.

"There is one heavyweight I can beat any of the seven days of the week," continued Boston Jack. "I told you I'd beat McTigue. I'll do Maloney even more decisively. Then you can bring on Paolino, Tunney or anybody else you wish."

Coolidge Signs 146 Bills as Congress Comes to End

Washington, March 4 (I.N.S.).—President Coolidge spent a busy morning signing his name to bills.

Shortly before 11 o'clock he went to the President's room at the Senate end of the Capitol in order to be close by to sign the last minute bills and resolutions.

Up to adjournment he had signed 146 bills. These included:

A bill authorizing the Veterans' Bureau to make loans on soldiers' adjusted compensation certificates.

A bill authorizing the Secretary of Interior to withhold approval until 1928 of the Northern Pacific land grants.

COAST GUARDS SAVE 2 AS CAPTAIN AND FOUR ARE SWEPT TO DEATH

Orleans, March 4.—Five men were swept to death in the sea today and two more were saved when the three-masted schooner Montclair was dashed on shore by a roaring gale and broke in two during rescue operations.

For hours Coast Guards fought valiantly to save the crew of seven under the eyes of more than half the townspeople who braved the icy blasts to watch as dramatic a sea tragedy as ever occurred on Cape Cod.

Earlier editions of the Boston Evening American today told exclusively of the loss of five lives in the wreck of the Montclair.

Grounded on a bar a mile off shore, the Montclair was battered unmercifully by giant waves while the Orleans Coast Guardsmen tried unsuccessfully time after time to launch a rescuing boat in the pounding surf.

Then the rising tide carried the schooner over the bar and grounded her only 100 yards off the beach. This brought her within reach of the breeches buoy and in the face of the sale a line was finally shot aboard after many attempts.

Coast Guards here were notified

B. U. STUDENTS EGG NORTHEASTERN'S BOYS

A riot was narrowly averted at Clarendon and Boylston streets, Back Bay, today, when 700 Boston University students hid down a barrage of rad eggs and spoiled vegetables on the heads of Northeastern University marching down Boylston street.

The Northeastern band members and the cheer leaders, in their natty uniforms of white, received the first barrage. Without warning dozens of ancient eggs, rotten vegetables and spoiled fruit descended upon the white-clad marchers.

The ranks broke for a moment. There was a movement of the marchers toward the jeering, booing Boston University students. Then the cheer leaders, sensing the dan-

INDICTMENT AGAINST DAUGHERTY QUASHED

New York, March 4 (A.P.)—The jury in the Daugherty-Miller trial today found former Alien Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller guilty of conspiracy but disagreed on a verdict for former Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty.

The jury reported after more than seventy hours' deliberation. At one time, jurors said, they stood ten to two for convicting Daugherty.

United States Attorney Emory P. Buckner then told the court he had tried the case twice and would not try it a third time. He asked a verdict for Daugherty. This was granted by Judge Knox.

Daugherty smilingly thanked the judge and jurors. He then left the court house on the arm of his

9 BUILDINGS SWEPT BY FIRE IN STOUGHTON

Stoughton, March 4.—The town of Stoughton was threatened early today by a fire in the south section of the business district which, starting from undetermined cause and fanned by a high wind, rapidly spread until at one time nine buildings, including dwelling houses were ablaze. One fireman was injured.

Reinforced by a part of the Brockton fire department, headed by Chief Dailey, Stoughton firemen fought nearly five hours until they got the flames under control.

At is was, two buildings and a dwelling house were destroyed, a second dwelling house was badly damaged, while a third building and four more dwelling houses were damaged.

Blazing embers and sparks were showered upon surrounding buildings and the crowd consisting of virtually the entire population of the town. Firemen were kept busy dashing from one place to another

Firemen from Brockton assisted the Stoughton department in checking the spread of the flames, which were brought under control after a four-hour battle. Crowds gathered and blazing embers were scattered far and wide, firemen being kept constantly on the jump to prevent new blazes, fanned by the wind, from gaining headway. As it was, two business buildings and a residence were destroyed and six other structures were damaged, although the loss was held to a nominal figure. One fireman was injured, and the owner of a dog risked his life to save the animal.

nd wetting down the buildings ex posed to the spark shower.

The blaze was discovered by Fi reman Sidney Morey who turned n the down town box which cal's ut the entire Stoughton depart ment. Chief James Dye appealed o Brockton for aid as the fire was beyond control.

The fire started in Atwood's Mar et, a two and a half story uilding, and also in the 1½ and a half story antique storage ouse of James Lehan in the rear f the two-story brick Stoughton uilding. The flames also were be oming to lick at the Stoughton uilding.

RESCUES DOG.

Among the first on the scene was ohn Marcon, joint owner with Wil am J. Wall of Atwood's Market. Re membering that Jane, a fox terrier hat watchdog at the market, was oked in the store, Mr. Marcon's rst thought was to rescue Jane. e risked his life to dash into the aging structure.

Giving no heed to the safe ty of hers, Mr. Marcon found her cow ering and whimpering beneath a counter. Bewildered, Jane ran from er friend, but he caught her and astened out into the cold night air.

Jane is owned by George Fisher, ho has been employed at Atwood's arket for fifty-five years. "Jane ed to take care of the store nights d I'm mighty glad she was saved," said today when master and dog ere snapped by a photographer.

By this time the flames had read to two dwelling houses on ilroad avenue. The Brockton fire en were beginning to arrive and ing into action almost the instant ey feet touched ground as they sung off their trucks.

On either side of the blazing uildings were a six story tene ment and a five story tenement, the roofs of both these tenements d caught and the families inside ere ordered out. Some of these milies moved what effects they uld into the street.

The Stoughton police were busy eeping the crowd out of the way the firemen. It was a constantly shifting crowd, first surging in and then back and then surging precipitately as a shower of sparks descended.

OTHER HOUSES AFIRE.

In the meantime two more dwelling houses on Railroad avenue d caught fire and the firemen ere hard put to it for several min es. Efforts were turned toward ving the Stoughton building and e dwelling houses. The Stoughton uilding and market were doomed, it was one of the Railroad avenue welling houses. The fifth tenie houses were vacant, their occupants having moved out a short ne on orders from the police. e Regional Theatres of New Eng nd, which planned to put down wn in order to build a theatre the site.

The firemen were constantly hamered by the high wind. Streams f water were turned on the adjoin g buildings, and the walls of the nk and telephone offices were kept et.

Not fifteen feet from the storage ouse was a small, one-story build g, a fireproof concern, which as filled with fireworks. This uilding the firemen kept continu ously wet and, despite its proximity the blaze, it did not once catch.

In the storage house a large mount of valuable antique furni re and twelve used automobiles re destroyed, while the Atwood arket lost its new cold storage nit, valuable stock and several elivery trucks.

Dennis G. Holmes of the Stough n fire department was severely t about the hand and wrist that was incapacitated. He was treat by Dr. Joseph Golden. It was a worst blaze Stoughton has had years and in view of the direc y of the wind it was considered remarkable that not more damage was done.

STUDENT ATHLETE SEIZED IN HUNT FOR BURGLAR

St. Louis, March 4 (A.P.).—Henry Edward Tiemeicel, twenty-three-year-old senior and prominent athlete at Washington University here, was arrested today under the basement stairway of a South Side home by police who were looking for a burglar. Chaplin, Leaving Hub, Points to Gray Hair

I was a dark, handsome juvenile, but now the gray will out.

"Spell it which ever way you like," he said with a smile.

Chaplin, with Ralph Barton the artist, and Mrs. Barton, who is known in public as Germaine Taillefarre, composer, motored to the Back Bay Station from the home of their host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. de Menocal, No. 181 Beacon street.

They used Barton's long, low cabriolet, which then was sent over the road to New York with the chauffeur, Chaplin and the Bartons taking the 10 o'clock train.

"The ride up from New Haven two days ago was enough in your New England climate," declared Chaplin. "The train for me. On the way from New Haven the wind blew like razor blades all the time."

HIS HANDS GLOVELESS

As he spoke, he chafed his hands which were gloveless, in contrast to the rest of his sartorical ensemble which was just the thing the well-dressed man should have if he has the price.

A pearl gray soft felt sat on his head. His coat was black, fur-lined and with an astrachan collar, and his shoes were low and black. Although it was cold enough for a cane, he did not carry one.

The comedian's remarks were directed almost wholly in praise of the youthful and blushing Mrs. Barton, whom he characterized as "one of the six leading living composers."

"It was the astounding success of this young girl and her 'Jazz' concerto last night at your excellent Symphony that gave me my greatest thrill in Boston," Chaplin declared.

"It was quite dramatic. I thrilled through and through. Wonderfully dramatic!"

Chaplin declared that he is coming back to the Hub again soon—intends to slip in silently, also—because he wants to see Bunker Hill Monument and other points of interest.

He almost said, "I love your town," but he sailed away from the bromide of visitors as it was leaving his lips, and contented himself with patting the Hub and New Orleans as the two cities that interest him chiefly in the world.

"They both have such romantic and historical background," he said.

Then he praised Koussevitzky, director of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

"He is one of the few men making progress in music," Chaplin said, as the train rolled in and the flappers gathered at last.

SAVES A DOG; GETS MEDAL

A humane medal from the Massachusetts S. P. C. A. was today presented to Summer O. Crowell of Watertown who risked his life on the treacherous ice of the Charles River, Feb. 3, to save a drowning dog.

The rescue took place near the Watertown Arsenal. Young Crowell was attracted to the scene by a crowd on the river bank. The dog was weakening and was 50 yards away from the shore, unable to pull itself up on the ice. Crowell crawled along, inch by inch, until he reached the helpless animal and succeeded in dragging it to the shore.

BIG FLORIDA HOTEL IS BURNED; GUESTS ESCAPE

Tarpon Springs, Fla., March 4 (A.P.).—The Tarpon Inn, one of the best known resort hotels on the West Coast, was destroyed by fire today with an estimated loss of $150,000. Although the hotel, containing 105 rooms, was almost filled with guests, there was no loss of life or injuries.

The hotel was owned by Frank E. Malone of New York and insured for $90,000. Two adjoining houses were burned before fire departments from nearby cities controlled the flames.

2 WOMEN FINED IN GAMING CASE

One woman was fined $50 and another woman and three men were fined $3 each today in East Cambridge Court, after being found guilty of gambling charges.

Mrs. Susan Lynch, alleged proprietress of the house in Western avenue, Cambridge, paid a fine of $50 on a charge of setting up and promoting a lottery.

Fines of $3 each were imposed on John H. Cuines of Myrtle street, Thomas Ashby of Joy street, Joseph Moore of Howard street and Margaret Crutchlow of Moore street, Cambridge, on charges of being present where gaming implements were found.

According to the evidence police the gamble was on a "Pay 600 for 1" basis.

CONLIN CONTEMPT IN BUS INJUNCTION IS AFFIRMED

The full bench of the Supreme Court has affirmed a decree of Superior Judge Lawton adjudging Thomas F. Conlin, president of the Conlin Bus Line, in contempt for violation of an injunction restraining his corporation from operating its buses in the towns of Palmer and Monson without obtaining licenses from the selectmen, and without a certificate from the department of public utilities for buses between Worcester and Springfield.

"Floradora" Girl Starts Counter Divorce Suit

New York, March 4 (A.P.).—Mrs. Elizabeth C. Hudson, former motion picture actress, today filed in Supreme Court a counter-accusation of unfaithfulness in a divorce suit brought by Percy K. Hudson, a member of the New York Stock Exchange. She named Vida Whitmore, also known as Frieda Hoegl one of the original Floradora Sextet. Denial of a similar charge made by her husband, who named Julia Braun, a private detective, also is contained in the paper. Mrs. Hudson asked for a jury trial of her husband's charges, $25,000 counsel fees and $1,000 a month temporary alimony.

WOMAN TO TELL OF FUR THEFTS, POLICE SAY

The whole story of the Patten Gown Shop theft in Boylston street and other fur and gown shop thefts will be told by Mrs. Rebecca Wilson of Ball street, Roxbury, it was indicated today by police when she is arraigned in Roxbury court, charged with receiving stolen goods.

On the declaration of Special Officers Sheehan and Adair of the Back Bay station that she intends to turn State's evidence against the actual alleged thieves, the case was continued for one week for disposition. The special officers told the court that 193 fur coats were recovered in Mrs. Wilson's apartment in Roxbury and that they had traced sphere.

FIVE DIE IN CAPE COD WRECK OF SCHOONER

that the schooner has been under suspicion as a possible carrier of liquor, and Thomas F. Finnegan, deputy customs collector for the port of Boston, is understood to be on his way here to question the survivors.

One man was brought ashore, semi-conscious from his experience on the sea-swept deck. A second was part way ashore in the buoy when the three masts of the schooner crashed into the waves, slackening the buoy line and pitching the sailor into the sea, whence he was dragged unconscious to the beach.

The same giant waves that toppled the masts swept the remaining members of the crew overboard and began the breaking up of the schooner. Three of them clung desperately to rafts which had been made out of bunches of baths that were in the ship's cargo.

One of these, the captain, William MacLeod, was washed ashore half dead long afterwards and he succumbed on the beach. The other two were carried rapidly out of reach of the rescuers, to disappear from sight in the tough of the waves.

One other man managed to get back to the vessel, which had begun to break in two, but he was numb with cold and later slipped to his death. The last of the crew clung to a broken hatch and was swept toward deeper water.

It was hoped the Coast Guard cutter Acushnet, summoned by wireless from Woods Hole, would pick him up, but he dropped before the cutter have in sight.

BOUND FOR NEW YORK.

The two rescued men, Nathan Bagg and Garland Short, both of Cape Lebune, Newfoundland, were carried to the Coast Guard station and given medical attention.

The dead, besides Captain MacLeod, are Mate William Dowling, Cook Jerome Butler, William Stewart, George Cains. All are said to have been from Newfoundland, although the Montclair was a Nova Scotia vessel and was bound for New York with lumber.

Efforts of the Orleans Coast Guards, a skeleton crew, to get assistance from the Chatham station were balked when the gale blew down telephone connections. Volunteers did yeoman work in the rescue.

It is believed that the Montclair was caught without sufficient sail by a sudden blow and that before all sails could be set, as the vessel kept on an offshore tack, she grounded. All that is left to view of the schooner is her stern.

The Coast Guard destroyer CG14, out of Provincetown, joined with the Acushnet in searching for bodies. The CG14 left her base originally because of a report from Hi hland Light that a two-masted fishing schooner was flying her flag union jack down, a signal for assistance.

As this schooner was heading to windward under power, the signal was a mystery. As the destroyer approached she was seen to reverse her colors, reflecting the Coast Guard craft for duty in connection with the Orleans wreck.

GALE FORCES SHIP BACK TO HUB; TO TRY CANAL

Forced back to port by gale and heavy seas, the Eastern steamship Herman Winter reached India Wharf today, postponing her trip to New York until late today. With a large cargo aboard, officers said the big freighter was tossed like a shell on the seas raging outside the harbor. On the trip today the vessel will deviate from the outside route to the protection of Cape Cod Canal.

MRS. CARRINGTON BARES SECRETS OF WEDDED WOE

The will of the late Brooks Adams, grandson of President John Quincy Adams, probated today in Norfolk County, bequeaths an estate of $750,000, of which more than $100,000 goes to servants and employes and a trust fund of $10,000 for the care of Adams' horse and dogs.

It was allowed for probate by Judge Joseph H. McGoode and a bond of $1,000,000 was filed by Arthur P. Brown of Newburyport, named in the will as executor.

The trust fund for the care of the animals is to be kept intact until the death of the last of them, when the money goes with the residue. A bequest of $5,000 is made to the Animal Rescue League of Boston.

The Adams coachman, John Manning, a veteran of 27 years service for the family, gets $20,000 and his son, $1,000.

Martin Hyland, the gardener, is left $10,000; Mary Dayton and Nora Schofield, maids, $5,000 each; Willis Sellers, secretary to Brooks Adams, $20,000; clerks in the Adams Real Estate Trust, $20,000, Francis McCormick, an employe, $5,000; Eliot Illing, an employe, the income from $10,000 trust fund.

The house and land at No. 25 Chestnut street, Boston, where Adams lived, goes to Mrs. Robert Homans of Boston, a niece, while valuable objects go to Miss Elizabeth Ogden Adams of Lincoln, another niece.

Elsie Adams, daughter of Charles Francis Adams of Lincoln, is left $20,000 outright, and Mary Cadwalader Jones, whose relationship is not described in the will, is bequeathed $20,000.

The next of kin are a sister, Mrs. Henry P. Quincy of Dedham; four nephews, John, Charles Francis, Henry and Arthur Adams of Boston, and four nieces, Elizabeth Ogden Adams, Mrs. Grafton St. L. Abbott and Mrs. T. N. Perkins of South Lincoln, and Mrs. Robert Homans of Boston.

New York, March 4.—In justice to myself I feel that I should break a silence of ten years and tell the real story of married life and woes with Edward C. Carrington. He seems bent on dragging my name and that of his brother, Campbell Carrington, into the mire.

I met Colonel Carrington here about ten years ago, right after my divorce from Mr. Snyder of Philadelphia. For two years the Colonel courted me persistently. He showered upon me candy and flowers and all the little attentions that money buys.

I finally married him. His fond attitude toward me soon changed. He seemed happy only when I was wretched. I suffered in si-

OLD 'DAMON AND PYTHIAS' PALS FIRE VICTIMS

One aged man was trapped by flames and is dying at Newton Hospital while his inseparable comrade narrowly escaped death in a fire today which destroyed their home at Pearl and Watertown streets, Newton.

Risking their own lives, policemen saved Bernard R. Lovely, eighty-five, from the house, but he was so badly burned that he is not expected to live. William Craig, seventy-seven, who occupied the house with Lovely, was discovered in the crowd of spectators after police had searched the ruins for his body.

The two old men were known as the Damon and Pythias of Newton for they lived alone in their half of the double-house, cooked their own meals and would permit no housekeeper to help them.

The fire was discovered by Eugene D. Henry, who with his wife occupied the other half of the house. Henry sent in the alarm. Two policemen, Daniel Cleary of Newton and Joseph Stead of Watertown, reached the house.

Henry told the police that they were inside and practically helpless and both patrolmen dashed through the flames. Stead found Lovely and carried him out. Revived by the fresh air, Lovely did not want to be taken to a hospital until Craig was found.

'BURLY QUEEN!' NEARLY STARTS FIGHT IN COURT

Characterization of Mrs. Stanislava Forgays, blonde Lowell wife, as "a former burlesque queen," was taken exception to in Middlesex Probate Court today by her attorney, Edward D. Hassen, during hearing on an order for temporary alimony.

The older was in anticipation of trial of a separate support suit brought by Mrs. Forgays, a former show girl, against Dr. Raymond G. Forgays, prominent Lowell dentist.

So bitterly did Attorney Hassen object to statements of Joseph P. Donahue, city solicitor of Lowell and counsel for the doctor, that the lawyers almost came to blows in the corridor of the courthouse after the hearing was over and Mrs. Forgays had been awarded temporary alimony of $15 a week, beginning tomorrow.

According to both counsel, trial of a separate support suit, probably next month, will be marked by fireworks of a heavy type. The Forgays have two children, Raymond G. Forgays, two years old, and Baby Donald, six months old.

SIXTH BABY SUCCUMBS IN POISON TRAGEDY

Chicago, March 4 (I.N.S.).—The sixth death in the Columbia Hospital baby poisoning tragedy occurred today when Robert Oliver Johnson, six days old, died in convulsions.

Burley Queen? Oh, No, No!

Mrs. Stanislava Forgays of Lowell, a former show girl, is suing Dr. Raymond G. Forgays for alimony. Her counsel resented a statement in court referring to her as a burlesque queen, and a fist fight in the corridor was just averted after court. She was awarded $15 a week alimony pending trial of her separation suit.

Romeo and Juliet — Shakespeare's Immortal Romance

"If thou be merciful,
Open the tomb, lay me with Juliet."

Romeo, breaking into Juliet's tomb for the purpose of ending his life beside her, was forced into a duel by Count Paris. In the fight that followed Paris was mortally wounded, and he begged Romeo to allow him to die near Juliet.

"And lips, O you, the doors of breath,
Seal with a righteous kiss a dateless bargain."

Romeo, not knowing that Juliet had merely taken a sleepless potion, believed her dead when he saw her in the tomb of the Capulets. Suddenly abandoning himself to despair he prepared to end his own life by taking poison.

"Here's to my love! O true apothecary, Thy drugs are quick. Thus with a kiss I die!"

The powerful poison that Romeo drank worked swiftly. Death came almost instantly. His head sank gently on Juliet's breast and his eyes closed as he made a last feeble effort to rouse himself and kiss her small fair mouth.

"A greater power than we Can contradict hath thwarted our intents!"

Juliet awakened from her drugged sleep to find her lover dead. Friar Lawrence, who had come to see if his plan was successful, strove to comfort her. But Juliet felt that life without Romeo was not worth living.

TELLS OF NOTE THAT CAUSED CANE DUEL

ause because of my two growing ughters.

Colonel Carrington has possession a love letter which his brother ote me. Let him produce it in urt. I shall produce the letter which this one was an answer.

We were at Saranac Lake in the summer of 1923. One day Colonel Carrington became so abusive that I wrote his brother Campbell a letter telling him that I could stand it no longer and was going to commit suicide.

I knew that Campbell cared for me, but no expression of sentiment had ever passed between us. In response to my desperate letter, however, I was surprised to receive a love letter intended to soothe me. I left it in a bureau drawer and thought no more about it until the Colonel found it. Imagine the scene.

"For the children's sake peace was restored and Campbell and I agreed not to see each other. Now comes the monstrous charge that we had a "love nest" here in New York. The alleged love nest is Campbell Carrington's private apartment, and we have affidavits from two superintendents that I have never been in it.

Campbell Carrington has always been a perfect gentleman to me. He is sorry he had to get hurt for my sake, sorriest of all that the innocent party had to suffer. During all these years he has always been ready to help me, and has done his best to protect me against his brother.

Colonel Carrington has changed greatly since I married him. But the last straw came about a year ago. He burst into this apartment one night, knocked me unconscious with the same cane that he used to beat his brother, a gift from me by the way.

Two months ago he returned to New York following the Chicago divorce action. From that time on life has been terrible. They have even tried to subpoena my aged mother, Mrs. Mary Walsh, who lives here with me.

Then came last Monday evening's happenings. My brother Warren Walsh, my mother and I were sitting here talking about the new baby. Campbell Carrington came in to congratulate my son-in-law, Frank Minniger on the birth of my first grandchild, a boy. Frank was not at home and so he waited until a little after ten, and then left.

With all the lights still on I prepared to go to bed. I was chatting with my mother. About ten minutes later the bell rang and my husband and a strange man, presumably a detective, appeared. This was immediately after the ending duel.

My mother opened her door at the noise and inquired what was wrong. And yet Colonel Carrington says I had her locked in.

U. S. OBJECTS TO ACTIVITIES OF MEXICANS

Washington, March 4 (U.N.S.).—The hurried departure of the Mexican ambassador, Senor Don Manuel Telles, added another link today to the mystifying developments in the Mexican situation.

Telles is in New York to catch the first steamer for Mexico. His departure was accompanied by reports that the State Department had demanded his recall. But these were subsequently denied by Under-secretary of State Grew in the following statement:

"Reports that the Mexican ambassador's recall has been demanded by the United States are without foundation, and this government has no information concerning the purpose of his visit to Mexico City."

The recall reports arose after it became hinted about that the closely-guarded exchange of notes between Mexico City and Washington this week concerned "Mexican propaganda."

The State Department is said to have been perturbed over some of the activities of Telles and the Mexican Consul-general in New York, Arturo Elias, a half brother of President Calles, in presenting Mexico's side of the bolshevism-and-oil controversy to the American public.

The note Ambassador Sheffield at Mexico City handed the Mexican foreign office is reported to have carried a protest against what the State Department considered "unwarranted activities." The Mexican reply is said to have contained a spirited defense of Mexico's representatives in the United States.

OFFICIALS AT FUNERAL OF EDWIN DAY SIBLEY

Mayor Cotnoir of Somerville, members of his city government, representatives of the Middlesex County Bar Association and many others attended the funeral services this afternoon for Edwin Day Sibley, prominent State street attorney, author and for many years chairman of the Somerville Board of Registrars of Voters, in the Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Spring Hill, Somerville.

The rector, Rev. George Bruce Nicholson, officiated. Mr. Sibley died Tuesday at the Copp Hospital following a seven-weeks' illness. The interment was in Cedar Grove Cemetery, Ashmont.

HUBBY MUST O. K. WIFE'S LOANS UNDER NEW LAW!

London, March 4 (A.P.)—Wives are prohibited from borrowing money without knowledge of their husbands under provisions of a "Money Lenders' bill," which passed second reading in Commons today and probably will become a law.

The object of the bill is to prevent extortion, said to amount to 400 per cent. on some loans. The provision against loans to wives is intended to remove opportunities for blackmail.

U. S. PROFESSOR CALLS OFF REICHSTAG SPEECH

Berlin, March 4 (A.P.)—The word "lie" prompted Professor James T. Shotwell, Columbia University, New York, to refrain from making a promised speech at a meeting in the Reichstag building last night.

He accepted the invitation to address the gathering, arranged by the working committee of the League of German Societies, in the belief that Germany's foreign policy as regards the World War was to be the general subject, but when he learned other speakers were to take on the "War Guilt Lie" he felt he was justified in seeking release from his promise.

CITY COUNCIL FAILS TO HEAR 'NAT' NICHOLS

When the Unemployment Committee of Boston City Council met today to resume its "investigation" of D. M. Biggs & Co., Dorchester garbage contract holders, and the relation of Major Nichols' brother to the company, it was reported that Nathaniel F. ("Nat") Nichols would not appear before the body.

Councilor Joseph McGrath had charged that the mayor's brother received a "rake-off" from the Biggs company on account of the garbage contract, and Mr. Nichols was asked to appear before the committee and explain.

A day or two ago, however, the mayor's brother, in a letter to Councilor McGrath, demanded that the source of the councilor's information be made public.

The refusal of McGrath to do this was responsible for the mayor's brother failing to appear before the committee today, it was said.

The members of the committee today questioned other city garbage contractors as to the wage rate paid the men engaged in the work of collecting garbage and ashes.

It had been reported to the committee that the Biggs and other firms were paying their workmen less than the $5.60 per day fixed by city ordinances.

While the committee was in session, the Finance Commission was also taking an active hand in the garbage investigation. It is understood that both Mayor Nichols and his brother will be asked to appear before the commission either Monday or Tuesday and will what they know of the Biggs contract.

The Commission has already questioned James H. Sullivan, commissioner of public works who executed the contract with the Biggs firm on behalf of the city.

The commission is now examining the books of the Biggs firm.

MILLER GUILTY; FAIL OF VERDICT ON DAUGHERTY

brother, Mal S. Daugherty, Washington Courthouse, Ohio, banker.

"I am an innocent man," Daugherty said, his voice breaking, even as he smiled. Judge Knox smiled at the former attorney-general in acknowledgment of Daugherty's thanks.

There was a rustle of excitement in the courtroom as reporters tried to get out the bolted doors when the verdict was returned. Miller sat quietly. The expression on his face did not change.

Jesse Miller, who sat beside him, did not flinch.

Later on, Miller said: "I'll beat them yet."

Notice of appeal was given and bail was set at $5,000.

In a conference after the court was cleared, it was agreed that motions for a new trial for Miller would be made next Tuesday. Maximum sentence in his case is two years imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

Miller, a Reclamation Commissioner during the war, is the son of a former Governor of Delaware. He was active in the foundation of the American Legion. He was once Secretary of the State of Delaware, and later a Congressman from the same state. He was appointed alien property custodian by President Harding in April 1921, shortly after Daugherty became attorney-general.

THEIR SECOND TRIAL

Daugherty and Miller were twice tried, charged with having released $7,000,000 worth of property seized under the trading with the enemy act.

The property was proceeds of 49 per cent. of the stock of the American Metal Company owned by two German companies controlled by the Merton family of metal magnates.

Richard Merton came to this country after the war to seek return of the property and retained the late John T. King to put his claim through. He paid King a fee of $141,000 and the government charged that part of this money found its way to Daugherty and Miller through the late Jess W. Smith, Daugherty's political handyman. The Merton claim was passed in 1921.

Walsh and Wheeler Call Daugherty Verdict 'Triumph'

Washington, March 4 (I.N.S.).—The Miller-Daugherty verdict today was applauded by Senate Democrats and insurgents.

"It is a great vindication of the work performed by my committee," said Senator Wheeler (D.), of Montana, "and it is a great triumph for justice in the Federal courts."

Senator Walsh (D.), of Montana said: "Little by little, justice prevails."

Republican leaders declined to comment.

JACK LONDON GUILTY OF INSURANCE FRAUD

Jack London, whose right name is said to be Jacobs, was today found guilty in the Superior Criminal Court of attempting to burn an apartment house in Blossom street, Cadsea, with intent to defraud an insurance company. Judge Donahue sentenced him to the State prison to from three to five years. London was an important witness for the government at the trial of the Chelsea rum cases in the United States Court.

Two Are Stabbed in West End Fight; Three Arrested

Two men were stabbed and six in Massachusetts Relief Hospital and three arrests were made during a free-for-all fight among a dozen men at Green and Norman streets, West End, early today.

Samuel Adasio, 29, of Green street, and Joseph O'Donnell, 28, of Rosseau street, were the men taken to the hospital by police from the Joy street station. Adasio had to have twenty stitches taken in his head while O'Donnell had four stitches taken in his forehead as a result of knife wounds.

Later the police placed under arrest, Angelo Manni, 46, of Court street, charged with attack with a knife on Adasio. O'Donnell was charged with assault on Chester Colo, 22, of Cooper street, and the latter was charged with attacking O'Donnell.

OUSTED WOMAN FIGHTS FOR PHONE JOB

Miss Esther M. Tuttle, deposed operating supervisor at Chelsea City Hall today, resorted to the courts in her fight to regain the position from which she was ousted by Mayor Wilson.

The telephone operator, who was suspended during the Quigley regime, filed a petition in the Chelsea District Court asking for a writ of mandamus ordering her reinstatement. The petition was filed by Attorney Joseph Lamb.

Miss Tuttle was dropped by Mayor Wilson shortly after he took office, on charges of insubordination and refusal to take dictation from the mayor's secretary.

Mrs. Tuttle, who is the mother of a five-year child, was granted a position by Mayor Quigley after she was a civil service employe and could not be dismissed. The mayor's action was upheld, and today's court action followed.

After Wilson declared her removal was the result of her activity during the Quigley regime, and was prompted by economy, as Miss Whalen claimed. The matter will be called up in Chelsea District Court within a few days.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY EVENTS

Miss Ethel Cummings to Become Bride of John Malcolm Forbes in Wedding Next June

WEDDING BELLS IN LATE JUNE WILL SIGNAL A GATHERING of the clan of Paine and the clan of Forbes—two representative sets who'll come from near and far to hear Miss Ethel Cummings, a descendant of a "Signer," exchange marriage vows with John Malcolm Forbes, son of Mrs. Malcolm Forbes of Milton. All the aunts and the cousins and the uncles of these popular and important young people will be there. And probably never in all Trinity's long and glorious history has there been celebrated before its stately altar a union more distinctly of Boston's resident aristocracy, or a wedding whose principals are more to the manner born or have a higher personal popularity.

RICH IN FRIENDS ARE THESE TWO YOUNG PEOPLE. And both are born leaders, taking their honors casually. The bride-elect's classmates at Radcliffe have just conferred on her the highest honor naming her marshal for Class Day. Her popularity and leadership in the Junior League marked her out during her first seasons in society. June for her will be filled to the brim with activities—for it's no simple task to complete a college course and prepare for a wedding all at the same time. But, however difficult, depend upon it, Miss Cummings will move through both with graceful ease. She's that sort.

RELATIVES WILL COME SCURRYING HOME from wherever they happen to be for this all important ceremonial. A general rounding-up, in fact will be necessary, for some are way on the other side of the world. Miss Evelyn Cummings, sister of the bride-elect, is due to come home from Europe just in time to attend her sister up the aisle. Miss Evelyn Cummings is now en route to Rome. She and her travel companions and their chaperone have been putting in a year of study and travel all about the continent. Their headquarters was a Paris apartment, from which they made all manner of pleasant excursions. The trip to Rome is one such. They all return to Paris shortly before sailing for home.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES K. CUMMINGS, JR., are planning a short Spring trip to Europe that will occupy two months or so very pleasantly, and bring them home in season for the wedding, June 25th. Mrs. Cummings was Miss Elizabeth Russell, and is a very charming young matron. Mr. and Mrs. George Lyman Paine, Jr., will also take ship and sail home in June. The Paines, Jr., have been making their home in Paris since their marriage last year, and each has been ardently pursuing an artistic career in that City on the Seine, where both artists and fashions are made.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT TREAT PAINE of Arlington street will, of course, be on hand for the nuptials, set for the hour of noon on June 25, to be followed by a small reception at the Beacon Hill residence of the bride's parents, the Robert Treat Paine mansion that rears its austere height at the crest of Joy street. Mr. and Mrs. Paine plan a Spring interlude at New York, and possibly Atlantic City, where balmy breezes will enable them to forget the rigors of March's scorching winds.

FRIENDS BY THE SCORE RALLY to give Mrs. William Gordon Means a royal reception whenever she appears in Washington, and her present stay in the Capital is no exception. She's being feted to the queen's taste. She is the house guest of her mother (who is now Mrs. C. K. Williams) and Colonel Williams. The former Mrs. Constance Gardner Minot has a legion of admirers in exalted Washington circles—the Corps Diplomatique, for instance, and among the Service big wigs. Such friendships date from the days of her regime as official hostess for her grandfather, the late lamented Henry Cabot Lodge.

THE HENRY HETTY CHILTONS of the British Embassy set passed through town recently, en route to Washington, hesitating sufficiently long to be house guests at the William Gordon Means' establishment and to be honor guests at a dinner given by the Wallace Goodriches. The Chiltons have frequently to step into ambassadorial roles both in Washington and at the North Shore, during such times as Sir Esme Howard and the Lady Isabella away. The British minister and Mrs. Chilton are far from being strangers hereabouts, having passed at least two seasons at the shore, where the representatives of His Britannic Majesty set up the Summer embassy.

THE WEDDING JOURNEY abroad of the John Caswells, Jr., is to be of three months' length and then, Mr. Caswell being engaged in business in New York, they are making their home on Long Island. Mrs. Caswell's going away costume was a smart "com posse" in one of those soft Spring colors belonging to the golden browns. Everyone agrees that her wedding gown of sapphire blue velvet and coloweb ivory lace and enormous hat with transparent edges were superlatively becoming.

BARBOUR FUNDS ATTACHED FOR $150,000

The litigation that developed over the contest of the will of John A. Barbour, Boston millionaire shoe man, was reviewed today when Mildred S. Hill, named as friend of the millionaire, filed an attachment for $150,000 against Perley E. Barbour, ex-Mayor of Quincy and executor of his millionaire brother's estate.

The attachment was filed in Probate Court at East Dedham by Mrs. Hill's attorneys, Thomas Maloney, of No. 18 Tremont street. The attachment indicates the early filing of a court action by the woman.

Mrs. Hill was one of the central figures in the suit in which the widow and daughter of the late shoe man endeavored to have his will set aside.

On the witness stand at East Dedham, Mrs. Hill, young and attractive, testified that she met the aged manufacturer in 1916.

Barbour once presented her with a $7,500 fur coat, she said, but this she returned. Later, he gave her $100,000 in bonds, because, she testified, Barbour told her she could not be remembered in his will.

Following the will trial, Mrs. Hill left Boston and took up her residence in New York city.

Perley E. Barbour, against whom the attachment is filed, is on a vacation in the West Indies and is not expected home until next week.

GUN-RUNNER IN BOSTON RUM CASE SHOT

New York, March 4 (A.P.)—Browne Willis, 46, grizzled sea captain and international gun runner, staggered into Recker's Inn in the Bronx weakened by loss of blood from two bullet wounds in the arm. He told of having been an innocent bystander at a pistol duel in Van Cortlandt Park.

Police, however, expressed the opinion that Willis had been "taken for a ride" by some enemy, shot and forced from the automobile.

Willis, with 15 members of the crew of the steam trawler Clara Matthieu, is under heavy bail in Boston charged with rum running. He lost with a cargo of several thousand cases of liquor was seized off New Bedford after collision with a tanker.

Willis admitted his gun running activities at the time of his arrest in Boston and today told Assistant District Attorney Kier he had been engaged in running guns to China, Nicaragua and Mexico.

Physicians at the Jewish Memorial Hospital said his life probably was saved by a metal cigarette case in his pocket, almost over his heart, and which bore the imprints of two bullets that had passed through his left forearm.

A railroad ticket stub found in his pocket showed he had arrived yesterday from Halifax, N. S.

Captain Browne Willis is well known to Federal authorities in Boston. The captain was due to appear here before United States Commissioner E. C. Jenny, today, on the charge of assaulting a customs agent. The assault is alleged to have occurred when the government men boarded the Clara Mathieu off Cuttyhunk and took charge of the vessel. Captain Willis was under $2,500 bail on this charge.

Jenny, today, on the charge of assaulting a customs agent. The assault is alleged to have occurred when the government men boarded the Clara Mathieu off Cuttyhunk and took charge of the vessel. Captain Willis was under $16,000 bail on this charge.

The captain is also under $16,000 bail here awaiting his removal to New York for trial on the charge of conspiring to smuggle liquor into the United States. The 14 members of the crew of the Clara Mathieu were discharged from custody here about a week ago. Each was held under $100 personal bail for his appearance as a witness, but according to Federal authorities these men have all disappeared.

B. U. STUDENTS PASS EGGS TO NORTHEASTERN

ger, called with all the vehemence at their command for the North eastern cheer. The response was rather feeble.

Again the procession started. Again the boys and co-eds of B. U. showered the marchers with their unsavory missiles—and once again the cheer leaders of Northeastern prevented serious disorder by demanding cheers as they went through the institution.

Seppala, himself, in Eskimo costume, stood on the truck bewildered at the shower of missiles. With Seppala and the mascot dog were the girls who acted as hostesses. These girls managed to dodge while Miss Elizabeth D. Eaton, secretary of the university, headed the dog from the flying eggs and fruit with her body.

The Boston University students had carried hampers of snow into their buildings and this they used to make snow-balls with which they pelted the marchers of the rival university. The end of the long procession finally passed the unfriendly corner without an open break in the ranks and danger of a riot was over.

The demonstration was staged in connection with Seppala's presentation of a mascot to the university in the shape of a prize Alaskan husky.

The students, headed by their band, gathered at North Station to greet the arrival of the noted dog team driver and his mascot. Seppala arrived on scheduled from Poland Spring, Me., bringing an additional dog as "company" for the official mascot. The driver was attired in a fur parics, while the chilly winds sweeping over Boston made not uncomfortable.

The students gave a flock of cheers for Seppala. Then they gave some more cheers for their newly arrived mascot. Then some more cheers were given, after which Seppala and the two dogs were hoisted aboard the float, where the girl "hostesses" were already waiting.

THOUSANDS PARADE.

The principal streets of downtown Boston were traversed by the procession which was witnessed by thousands of office workers enjoying their noon respite.

When the university was reached, the exercises were gotten under way. The new mascot was officially named "Husky the First," and Raymond P. Todd, president of the senior engineering class, formally accepted the mascot. Todd in a brief address, then turned the cur over to the university, presenting it to President Frank Palmer Speare.

In honor of the event, the afternoon was made a holiday at Northeastern and no classes or lectures were held. Seppala, as the guest of honor of the university, was hooked to a sled and a dozen huskies managed by the students later in the day.

Leonhard Seppala, noted musher from the Far North, a prize Alaskan husky and a bevy of pretty, parka-clad girls were the features of an unusual demonstration which started at the North Station at noon today and ended at Northeastern University on Huntington avenue.

Seppala, the dogs and the girls occupied a gaily decorated float on the journey from the station to the university, and behind this float marched a thousand cheering, riotous students from Northeastern.

What 69th Congress Did aud Did Not Do

WHAT IT DID

A NEW tax bill which saves the country upwards of half a billion dollars annually.

Ratification of all the remaining war debt settlements, save that of France, and that will be ratified as soon as France ratifies.

Reorganization of the prohibition enforcement system, bringing all agents under the civil service system.

Passage and repassage of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, each time vetoed by President Coolidge.

Government regulation of the lusty infant radio industry through the creation of a federal commission with rezar-like powers.

A banking act, broadening the field of national banks, and designed to strengthen the Federal Reserve System through extension of its charter.

Adherence to the World Court—an enactment later nullified by the powers' refusal to accept Senate reservations.

Comparatively close adherence to the budget in all expenditures, thus achieving a record of economy.

Hundreds of minor bills, regulatory, corrective and routine.

WHAT IT DIDN'T DO

PASSED no legislation to enable the executive to act in coal strikes, as recommended by President Coolidge.

No action on $93,000,000 deficiency bill.

No disposition of Muscle Shoals, twice recommended by the President.

No action on the Boulder Dam project.

No legislation furthering the consolidation of railroads, invariably recommended by the President in his messages.

No disposition of the alien property held by the government since the war.

No comprehensive program for reclamation, endorsed by Mr. Coolidge.

No organization of government bureaus and activities.

Rejected appointments of Cyrus Woods as Interstate Commerce Commissioner, Wallace McCamant as Federal judge, and of William J. Tilson, as Federal judge.

CONGRESS ENDS WITH THE SENATE IN DEADLOCK

Massachusetts, who objected to this measure.

"I am not frightened by the word 'veteran,'" said he.

The resolution would carry $32,000,000 for pensions, $35,000,000 for veterans' bureau compensation and a $25,000,000 fund from which the bureau may make loans on bonus certificates.

Blocked by a filibuster, the Reed resolution virtually had paralyzed the Senate for three days, and as the adjournment hour of noon approached almost frantic efforts to put the proposal aside long enough for passage of the deficiency bill and other pressing measures followed one another in rapid succession.

KILL IMPORTANT BILLS.

As one after another failed, senators worked themselves into a mood that betrayed itself in angry gatherings on the floor. Several times Vice-President Dawes called upon the sergeant-at-arms to restore order.

The battling factions did relax their lines momentarily, however, to permit the passage of several uncontested measures.

These proposals thus given approval included the longsboremen's compensation bill and a resolution by Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, to investigate charges of a lobby in connection with the McFadden Branch Banking bill.

The credentials of Senators-elect Smith of Illinois and Vare of Pennsylvania were received and placed on file after Reed of Missouri had been assured they would not affect the question of admitting the two senators-elect to Senate membership.

Then came the administration bills to fall of passage was the $93,000,000 deficiency measure, carrying appropriations for the army, for veterans' loans and seed loans to farmers and for pension increases.

REED RESOLVE LOSES.

Also consigned to the waste basket was the Allen property bill, the postal rate revision bill and the $19,000,000 appropriation to pay for the first year's work on the new public buildings program.

Another measure held up was the Mondell bill to create a tariff. The bill promises to figure in the coming campaign and in the next Congress.

But the failure of these projects was not without its saving feature for administration Senators.

The favorites dragged down to defeat with them the proposal which had tied the Senate procedure in a knot in the closing hours of the session—the resolution of Reed of Missouri to extend the life of his campaign fund investigation.

That became the basis of the filibuster and declared that "this is the only parliamentary body in the world in which a minority can hold up the will of the majority."

The picture in the House was quite different. Having completed their legislative program long ago, the leaders let the session lag, waiting for noon and listening to farewell speeches.

As customary, President Coolidge went to his room adjoining the Senate chamber shortly before the close of the session and affixed his signature to many bills that had come to him in the last minute.

He also received committees of Senate and House who inquired whether he had any further communication to make to Congress, and he replied that he had not.

ATTACKS REED OF PA.

After the Senate had punched holes in the filibuster wall intermittently for two hours to let through relatively unimportant legislation, the resolution which provoked the delaying tactics, that of Senator Reed of Missouri for a lot of action as the session neared its end.

Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, attacked Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, leader of the filibusterers, for objecting to the reading of the letter of former Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, holding that William S. Vare of Pennsylvania was "corruptly elected" to the Senate.

Turning to Reed, Harrison declared if the Pennsylvanian's "judgment was as good as his knowledge of law he would be a big man but his judgment is so great that he is a very poor man but not financially."

WOULD AMEND RESOLVE.

When Senator Phipps, Republican, Colorado, attempted to interrupt, Senator Harrison declared:

"I rome to you in a minute. You have been squirming in your seat ever since this resolution came up and if you don't watch out we will have you on the rug."

Harrison charged the Pennsylvania Senator with leaving the Vare credentials in his safe and refusing to read them to the Senate. He also read the Pinchot letter charging conspiracy and fraud in the Pennsylvania election.

Reed of Missouri then offered to amend his resolution to require inquiries by his committee into campaigns in Pennsylvania, Illinois and Colorado.

"Will the Senator agree to include Tennessee?" asked Heflin.

"Yes," said Reed of Missouri.

"Will he include Mississippi and Alabama?" asked Reed of Pennsylvania.

"Yes," answered Reed of Missouri.

"Will he provide for inquiry by the privileges and elections committee?" pressed Reed of Pennsylvania.

"Oh, no that is your tactic," replied the Missouri Senator and sat down.

The effort to put through the emergency resolution to cover the veterans' appropriations contained in the doomed Deficiency Bill was blocked by Senator Walsh of Massachusetts after it had passed the House.

Lambasting those who had filibustered to death the Reed Campaign Funds Committee, the Massachusetts Senator said that charges that Democrats had refused to permit action on important legislation was "political blackmail."

WON'T BE "BLACKJACKED."

"We are trying out an issue that will not end when this session adjourns," he said. "The question is whether two-thirds of this Senate can transact business.

"I don't propose to stand for days and nights for this principle and then be blackjacked into passing these bills simply because some money is needed."

ESTATE TAX BILL PASSED IN HOUSE

A bill aimed to bring the Commonwealth of Massachusetts $1,500,000 more annually in estate taxes was passed to be engrossed today in the House of Representatives of the State Legislature after long debate. The money will come from the Federal government in the form of a refund of the Federal estate tax.

Proponents of the bill declared that the bill places no more burden on the citizens of the State, but only takes what the Federal government would otherwise get.

In opposition, Representative Joseph E. Perry of Belmont claimed the bill, under the guise of taxing estates here, is in reality taxing the United States in violation of the principles of reciprocity in exemptions.

Representative Elliot Wadsworth of Boston, a former assistant U. S. Secretary of the Treasury, explained that the national government expects to take advantage of the situation and he denied any legislative trickery in the passage of the bill.

"UNSINKABLE WIDOW'S" DUKE NOT KNOWN AT HOME

Paris, March 4 (A.P.)—The announcement in Denver, Colo., by Mrs. J. J. Brown of her engagement to the Duke of Claire, described as head of a prominent French family, caused a surprise here. The Duke of Claire, it was said, has long been extinct.

Denver, Col., March 4 (A.P.)—Mrs. J. J. Brown, whose husband amassed a fortune in mining properties, today announced her engagement to the Duke of Claire.

Mrs. Brown said the duke had arrived at a considerable age, wished an heir to carry on his name and titles, and had agreed to bequeath his various titles to her adopted son, George.

Mrs. Brown was rescued from the Titanic, and is known here as the "Unsinkable Mrs. Brown."

SAFETY SMOKER FOR TRUCK DRIVERS TONIGHT

Drivers of the Jordan Marsh Company and other large firms, have been invited to attend a truck drivers' conference and smoker at the American Mutual Insurance Company's offices, No. 142 Berkeley street, tonight.

Lewis E. MacBrayne of the Massachusetts Safety Council and Sergeant John P. McArdle of the Boston police department, will lead the discussion of methods of avoiding accidents and other truck traffic problems.

Motion pictures and other entertainment will follow the conference.

400 CHILDREN MARCH OUT AS SCHOOL BURNS

Presque Isle, Me., March 4 (A.P.)—An 18-room frame school house used as a training school for students of the Aroostook State Normal School here was burned today. The loss was about $50,000.

The 400 pupils marched out before the fire gained great headway, thinking they were merely having a fire drill. The fire started from the explosions of an oil stove.

AUTHOR-STAR OF "SEX" AND 21 OTHERS PLEAD

New York, March 4 (A.P.)—Mae West, author and star of "Sex," alleged immoral stage production, and 21 others, indicted by a Grand Jury in District Attorney Banton's crusade to clean up Broadway, entered pleas of not guilty when arraigned today. Two others, including John Curry, cran theatre owner, entered similar pleas yesterday.

STREET CHIEF FINED $200 IN FALL RIVER

Fall River, March 4 (A.P.)—Frank B. Manning, superintendent of streets, was today fined $200 by Judge Edward D. Hanify for violation of the civil service laws governing seniority rules for street department laborers. Supt. Manning also furnished bail in the sum of $500.

Drops Dead on Street

Caldwell J. Chapman, 82, for more than forty years mechanical instructor at the Amoskeag Mills, Manchester, N. H., dropped dead today in Burrill street, Swampscott, a few yards from the home of his daughter, Mrs. William J. Hiatt, with whom he was visiting. Death was pronounced due to heart failure. His son, J. W. Chapman was with him at the time.

What Failure to Pass Deficiency Bill Means

WASHINGTON, March 4 (I.N.S.).—Here are the principal results of the Senate's failure to pass the $93,000,000 deficiency bill today:

World War veterans will be unable to get loans on their compensation certificates from the government.

All increases in pensions to Civil and Spanish war veterans will be suspended until July 1 and all new pensions will be denied for a year.

The Veterans' Bureau will have to abandon a good part of its hospitalization program.

The President's new Radio Commission will have to function on its own funds, if at all.

The sellers of the Cape Cod Canal will not get their $11,500,000 from the government for another year at least.

The navy cannot build three new needed cruisers.

The army may have to discharge thousands of soldiers for lack of funds.

MISSING URUGUAYAN FLIERS SOUGHT IN VAIN

Las Palmas, Canary Islands, March 4 (I.N.S.).—Although an intensive search by sea, land and air has been made in an effort to locate the Uruguayan trans-Atlantic fliers, missing since Wednesday, no sign of them had been found today. The aviators, headed by Major Larre Borges, hopped off from Cape Juby, Morocco, Wednesday morning in an attempted flight to the Canaries.

Lisbon, Portugal, March 4 (A.P.).—Major Sarmento Beires, Portuguese aviator, who has started an attempt to fly around the world in 90 days, left Casablanca, Morocco, for Rio de Janeiro, West Africa, this morning.

PRATT TO FIGHT FOR ANTI-DEATH PENALTY BILL

Undismayed by the adverse report of the joint legislative judiciary committee on his bill to abolish capital punishment, Representative C. F. Nelson Pratt of Saugus will make a last ditch fight for the measure on the floor of the House on Tuesday.

He will make his maiden speech in defence of the bill, and will demand a roll call. Pratt was cheered by the fact that there were three dissenters to the committee's vote to report "leave to withdraw." They were Senator Walter Shubrick of Cohasset, chairman of the Senate judiciary committee; Representative Martin Hays of Brighton, chairman of the House judiciary committee and Senator William I. Henchey of Boston.

"We are not going to surrender without a fight," said Representative Pratt today. "The bill will be debated on the floor on Tuesday. I feel encouraged to think my bill made sufficient impression to cause three members of the joint judiciary committee to dissent, and to have the chairman of both branches among the dissenters.

"That, in my opinion, shows progress. I realized when I filed the bill that it would meet stiff opposition. It's hard to uproot customs in Massachusetts. But I think people are beginning to see the light so far as capital punishment is concerned.

"Most citizens have to be shown, but the thinking class see that the death penalty has outlived its day.

QUOTES VAN ALLEN.

"It is a product of the dark ages and, as the Rev. Dr. William van Allen, rector of the Church of the Advent, so aptly expressed it 'Civilization has outgrown capital punishment.'

"I have been showered with similar sentiments by men and women of culture. When Warden Lawes of Sing Sing condemns the death penalty as inhuman, after years of contact and observation, the average citizen ought at least to reflect on the situation.

"If my measure does no more than arouse public thought it will have served its purpose, but I'm not licked yet. If the bill meets with defeat on Tuesday I'll file another if re-elected from my district and I'll keep pounding away at it, because the death knell has already sounded for mile death penalty in Massachusetts, whether opponents of my bill appreciate it or not."

MAN DROWNS IN DEATH BATTLE WITH POLICEMAN

New York, March 4 (I.N.S.).—George Goldstein, 17, a psychopathic patient, dashed to liberty from Bellevue Hospital early today and was drowned in a death battle with Patrolman Willam McAdam who attempted to rescue him after he had plunged into the East River.

Goldstein was being led to the psychopathic ward at Bellevue when he made his spectacular and fatal dash. Patrolman William McAdam pursued the youth, plunged into the river to save him, and may die from the chilling effects of the icy water.

HARVARD ADDS TO TEACHING FORCE

Two new professors and five associate professors have been named at Harvard, the appointments to become effective on September 1.

Dr. Warren A. Seavey, World War veteran and Harvard graduate, who for the past year has been professor of law at the University of Pennsylvania, will return to his alma mater as professor of law.

Professor Oliver Dimon Kellogg at present associate professor of mathematics and chairman of the board of tutors at Harvard, has been named Professor of Mathematics. The five assistant professors who have been named associate professors are: Earnest A. Hooton, Ph. D., since 1921 assistant professor of anthropology and curator of somatology at the Peabody Museum.

William Henry Weston, Jr., Ph. D., at present assistant professor of botany; John Tucker Murray, A. M., assistant professor of English and chairman of the Board of Tutors in the Division of Modern Languages.

Richmond Laurin Hawkins, Ph. D., since 1919 assistant professor of French, and Louis Joseph Alexandre Mercier, A. M., associate professor of French and tutor in the Division of Modern Languages.

Professor Seavey, who becomes professor in the law school, graduated from Harvard in 1901, receiving his LL. B. at the Harvard Law School in 1904. After practicing law for two years in Boston he went to China to teach in the Pei Yang university, in 1911 he returned to Harvard where for a year he taught pleading, after which he spent four years teaching at the University of Oklahoma, Tulane University and the University of Indiana, successively.

He was dean of the College of Law, University of Nebraska, from 1920 to 1926 when he went to the University of Pennsylvania. Professor Seavey was a captain during the World War and was director of the college of law of the A. E. F.

'Gould, Keep Your Seat,' Says Senate to Maine Man

Washington, March 4 (I.N.S.).—The Senate today accepted without debate a report of its Elections Committee dismissing the charges which resulted in an investigation of the pre-election record of Senator Gould (R.) of Maine.

Gould will keep his seat and the Senate will forget all charges against him.

Dr. Ira Remsen Stricken

Baltimore, Md., March 4 (A. P.).—Dr. Ira Remsen, president emeritus of Johns Hopkins University and famous chemist, is seriously ill at Pine Inn, Carmel, Cal.

HEARST FORMS NEW MAGAZINE COMPANY

New York, March 4.—Formation of a new corporation, Hearst Magazines, Inc., which will acquire control of International Magazine Company, Inc., was announced here by William Randolph Hearst. The Magazine Company is the publish of five of the principal Hearst or ganization magazines—Cosmopolitan, Good Housekeeping, Harper's Bazaar, Motor, and Motor Boating.

In connection with the acquisition of the Magazine Company from Hearst Publications, Inc., the new corporation has sold an issue of $10,000,000 Hearst Magazines, Inc., 6 per cent. serial gold debentures to Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc. A part of the proceeds of the issue will also be used for the retirement of certain liabilities of the Magazine Company.

This move marks a definite step in the segregation of the magazine and newspaper properties of one of the largest of the Hearst organization. The Magazine Company, together with the Los Angeles Examiner, Los Angeles Evening Herald, the San Francisco Examiner, the San Francisco Call and Post, and the Oakland Post-Enquirer, formerly comprised the Hearst Publications, Inc.

CONTROL NEWSPAPERS.

Under the new arrangement, the latter organization will control only the newspapers named. As a part of the financial program undertaken in segregating the properties, it was also announced that $2,400,000 Hearst Publications, Inc., first mortgage and collateral trust 5½ per cent. serial bonds will be retired shortly.

Through the maturity of $1,100,000 of the bonds on May 1 of last year, $1,100,000 on May 1 of this year and the present operation, the $1,200,000 issue of the latter organization, which was offered publicly in April, 1924, will be reduced to $7,400,000.

The five magazines included in the new corporation are all old, well-established, and among the leaders in their respective fields, namely: "Good Housekeeping," established in 1885;

"Cosmopolitan," established in 1886;

"Harper's Bazar," established in 1867;

"Motor," established in 1903;

"Motor Boating," established in 1907.

DIRECTED BY EXPERTS.

They have their own distribution system and are assured continuity of management under the supervision of the experts that have been responsible for their remarkable growth and present success. Their combined net paid circulation is now 3,160,000 monthly.

International Magazine Company, Inc., is the only part of Hearst Publications, Inc., affected by the organization of this new corporation. The bonds will be the primary security of Hearst Magazines, Inc., and they will be followed by 50,000 shares of capital stock without par value, all of which, except the directors' qualifying shares, is owned by William Randolph Hearst. None of the stock is for sale.

The $10,000,000 6 per cent. debentures have a maximum interest charge of $600,000 annually. The net earnings of the magazines named last year exceeded $2,000,000, or more than six times the maximum interest charge.

ONLY $6,000 A YEAR FOR A BOY OF SIX!

White Plains, N. Y., March 4.—An annual allowance of $6,000 for a boy of six years is sufficient, in the opinion of Supreme Court Justice Morschauser. William Ogden, the father, has been paying the annual payments of $1,200 decreed after a divorce.

Young Ogden's income is from a trust fund invested in Florida property. Ogden is a California fruit farmer.

Priscilla Price Dollar Day

Dear Anne:

Again we follow the trail of the Golden Dollar and find it magic within our hands. Glorious values, beautiful bargains and splendid sales. Yes—this Dollar Day is full of plums—plump plums that will make you gasp with incredulous delight. The shops will hold the prices for a week, but the merchandise may melt like an iceberg sailing South. So place your order by mail or phone, if you cannot come to town.

$1.00 Buys Cottage Set

Dainty fluffy cottage sets for the window of your home. Six-piece cottage sets of fine quality voile —with ruffles of scalloped net. And these dots are of color — rose, blue or gold, giving the energy of whiteness to them a touch to harmonize with the general tone of the room. Lovely sets for darling Dutch sets, to banish dull weather and welcome the soft fresh curtains at the window make the home smile, but when these pretty things start waving at each other, every room laughs. Then the enticement through them and this dollar brings you health as well as new cottage sets which ought to have cost very much more. Down at the Seasonal Sales Store you will find them, at 54 Chauncy Street, where the newest and prettiest curtains of the season abide and where household linen can be bought at less than you could imagine possible.

$1.00 Buys Fluff

Beautiful feminine fluff in the guise of crepe de chine undies. Lest you misunderstand me, I must explain at once that $1.00 does not buy the first ones, but it does buy the second. Estelle Rose in her lovely lingerie shop on the 6th floor of the Lawrence Building, 149 Tremont Street, hunted her shop through and through for something for $1.00. And at last the happy conclusion came that if we bought a definite chemise of crepe de chine and choice lace for the regular price of $3.50, she would let us have the second one for $1.00. Or, if we decided on a fairy confection of a step-in of exquisite trousseau quality for $2.50, then we could have the second one for $1.00. Which really is the nicest arrangement Estelle could have made, for these silky, shimmery, lacy things are lovely beyond words, and two girls can always combine in taking advantage of the cut price.

$1.00 Buys Curtains

Made up, or the makings thereof. And this is an outstanding item. Yaffee, Inc., at 515 Washington Street (near the corner of Washington) has moved into larger quarters on the same floor and as an introduction to the new shop offers the following values: White and ecru marquisette curtains with voile ruffles, in dainty fast colors, complete with tie backs—$1.00 a pair. White voile curtains with hemstitched border and deep 7" flounce, its ruffled edge and sides daintily piqueured—$1.00 a pair. And—listen to this, my housemates—three yards of exquisite silky rayon net in the beautiful ponges shade for $1.00 (3 yds. for $1.00, and three yards makes a pair of curtains with a valance. ('Tis a yard wide.) At one-third less than you could buy it elsewhere. Don't fail to respond to an introduction like this. Go to Yaffee's, where draperies, bed spreads and all kinds of interior decorating are made to order.

$1.00 Buys Comfort

Oh, such comfort and relief if your scalp is dry or irritated. It buys cool comfort and banishes dandruff forever. Yes, our nice Mrs. Young and Miss Lilly of the French Beauty Shop (110 Tremont Street, New Studio Building), have made a special offer of one of their splendid scalp treatments and shampoos for $1.00 for one week only. Goodness knows, its needed and welcome, for our scalps are as dry and lifeless as the desert and this treatment of theirs is a godsend to the scalp. Just one relieves irritation, and goes a long way towards clearing up the dandruff. Two or three cure it entirely. Every inch of my own scalp longs for the luxury of it and for the delight of being shampooed, brushed and curled again at this friendly, efficient shop. So if you get there bright and early you'll see your own Priscilla saving money on her head, too.

$1.00 Buys Linen

For your breakfast table. Oh, you're going to love this item. Yes, that magic dollar of yours will get you one big doily for the plate and two smaller ones, for the butter dish and tumbler. At the Seasonal Sales Store, 54 Chauncy Street. They are of Italian linen cream, with Armenian point lace edge, cool, clean and dainty, almost too good for family use, except that such a family deserves the best. The large doily is 12 inches in diameter, the smaller ones, 7 inches. And Sunday we're going to celebrate with a crisp new breakfast set, and Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday we're going to enjoy it. For every piece handdoes easily, wears for ever, and costs only $1.00 for the set of three at the Seasonal Sales.

$1.00 Rolls On

To the Ambassador Lamp Shop Gift Floor, 45 Winter Street and there performs most amazing tricks. It presents you with an exquisite wax doll head (formerly $2.00) set in a pin cushion form, to be covered and placed upon your bureau. It forms a great soft puff or form down from the shelf in your lap, down from $2.75 to our $1.00 price. It places a stunning lamp shade frame into your hands, and frame from one to a tiny foot doir lamp to the great table or floor lamp shade. Then you'll see ruchings, gorgeous ruchings which were up to $1.00, now two yards for $1.00. And glorious fringe, 4 in. deep, at $1.00 a yard, instead of $1.50. Imported beaded lamp pull cords, formerly $1.50 and $2.00 a pair, will be $1.00 again for the next few days to Priscilla Price friends at the Ambassador Lamp Shop.

$1.00 Buys a Special

At the Primrose Hosiery Company room 211, in the Colonial Building, 100 Boylston Street. A special that's more than a special—for every week there's some unusual value offered in this popular little shop and this is far beyond any of these. Hosiery, silk to the all-silk hosiery in either the service weight or chiffon.

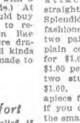
Silk way up to the 6-inch like welt, way down to the reinforced foot with its extra toe guard. At $1.09 a pair, in all the newest colors demanded by Spring. Think of getting our Exacer hosiery at $1.00 a pair—a 45c saving at the very least. The Primrose Hosiery Company does a flourishing mail order business, mailing your orders out quickly and promptly with no extra charge. And better still, they have an efficient repair service which keeps your hosiery in perfect condition.

$1.00 Takes Your Man

In hand and leads him down to the McPherson Store, 71-79 Hanover Street, where shirts, ties and socks have been drastically cut for this occasion. Yes, McPherson's have joined the party and have taken special pains to be able to get some especially fine items for us. Broadcloth shirts, with collar attached, straight $2.09 shirt for $1.00. Splendid broadcloth, beautifully fashioned—a big bargain. Then two pairs of real silk hose, in plain colors or novelty patterns for $1.00. Instead of the usual $1.00 per pair. And best of all—two stunning silk neckties for $1.00, coming on just two apiece for regular $1.00 ties. And if you don't think those ties are the smartest, finest and altogether best looking ties in the city, go right down to McPherson's and see them for yourself.

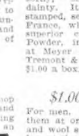
$1.00 Buys The Pride

Of your hope chest; a gift you'd love to give, or delight to receive. A large towel of pure-flax Irish linen, with a woven damask border and dainty huck-a-buck centre —easily a $1.50 or $1.75 value. Another of the drastic concessions made by the Seasonal Sales Store, 54 Chauncy Street, for Priscilla's Dollar Day. Beautiful towels, Anne, for they come in several different designs, each with the medallion for the embroidered initial — each one of this exquisite quality and each one a perfect treasure for the girl who loves fine linen. Buy now for future gifts. Get a pair of these towels and put them away. For some day they will be the choicest part of someone's linen supply.



$1.00 Buys Velvet Bloom

Oh, the softest, sweetest velvet bloom that ever came inside a dainty box. Gabilla Face Powder —that delicate Parisian face powder, so beloved by all those who make beauty culture an art. At Meyer Jonasson's for $1.00 instead of the $1.50 price it always carries. A powdered mist of elusive charmingness —Anne, Florida-



Jour, flowers of the day. Yes dust it lightly over your face, gently rub it in, and a finish of velvet is yours—but velvet that's radiant and alive, glowing with the rose beneath. Above all, the security and self possession of knowing it will cling all day, softly, smoothly, fastidiously dainty. It's Parisian-imported, stamped, sealed and packaged in France, which accounts for its superior charm. Gabilla Face Powder, in odor Fleurdu-Jour, at Meyer Jonasson's (corner of Tremont & Boylston Streets), for $1.00 a box.

$1.00 Buys Socks

For men. But yes—four pair of them at once. Four pair of silk and wool socks for only one dollar, at the Norfolk Hosiery Company, street floor Arcade of the Little Building, 30 Boylston Street. Socks that go straight to the heart of man for their soft comfort and artistic beauty. Socks that will wear and look worn, no matter what months of the year may come and go. It will also buy one pair of very high grade silk and wool socks, which were $1.00 a pair before. "This about a gift?" they sighed, "to let them go for that." Silk stockings for you, too, have been procured at $1.00 a pair. Fine quality pure silk stockings, full fashioned and service weight, in moonlight, beige, nude, taupe and fleck. Much reduced, my dear, for this occasion. And if you go there among the first, you can pick up lovely little rayon stepins for $1.00, dainty daring step ins for those who get there before the supply is gone.

$1.00 Buys Draperies

For your living or dining room—in fact, for any room where beautiful paper curtains are in good taste. These are of voile, good quality voile, with a deep hemstitched hem and a lace edging like a fine Cluny. They are 81 inches long, a generous length for modern windows. So look about your home and see how many new draperies you will need. One pair for the dining room, three for the living room, and two for the bay window in the hall. Then go to the Seasonal Sales Store, 54 Chauncy Street, and purchase them all for $1.00 a pair. It doesn't seem possible that you can get them for this price, I know, but they are there. I have seen them and bought them. The Seasonal Sales Store ordered them from the manufacturer and marked them down to this price, especially for us.

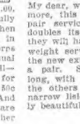
$1.00 Takes You Flying

To Landfield's, 3 Winter Street, as fast as you can go. For they have made us a dollar hosiery offer that's almost a gift from the Gods. Beautiful full-fashioned hosiery, pure silk with lisle top and foot — high spliced heel and reinforced toe. Long length stockings with silk coming well over the knee. In either the service weight or the chiffons. And in all the lovely colors of Spring. Mr dear, what a miracle! What's more, this includes the free repair service, which more than doubles its value again. Also—they will have an all-silk medium weight service silk hosiery with the new extra toe guard for $1.00 a pair. Stockings made extra long, with silk even longer than the others and finished with a narrow lisle cuff. An exceedingly beautiful and popular number.



$1.00 Buys Fringe

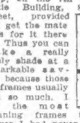
For your lamp shade. A yard of wonderful glass fringe, 6 inches wide, in every possible color and combination of colors, with gold, green, blue, amethyst or black predominating. At the Feins Trimming Company, on the 4th floor of the Dexter Building, 458 Washington Street, just across from Czecho Slovakia, rich and lovely. And of course a give-away price like this is a direct invitation to come in and make yourself at home in a shop which specializes in everything for lamps, or interior decorating. In Dresden dolls, French dolls, pillows, marble top tables, lamp stands and vases and trimmings for everything that ever was or ever could be trimmed. Instructions in making lamp shades is given free of charge by expert designers.

$1.00 Buys a Rug

In rich mellow tones for your room, sun porch or cottage-by-the-sea. A rug of braided yarn firm heavy yarn with strong braids sewed round and round until it forms a perfect oval, like the rag rugs of old. A rug which brings the beloved atmosphere of Colonial days back into the home, of the days of race Chippendale, the deep lustre of mahogany, broad hall-ways and money rag rugs upon the floor before mother's chair and Dad's old rocker. They come in every color, do these rugs—in tones of green, orange, lavender, rose, gold and tans, combined with stripes of black and cost but $1.00 in the smallest size. They are 36"x18", a practical size for any number or uses. And please remember that this $1.00 price is a special offering made by the Seasonal Sales Store, 54 Chauncy Street, for the next few days only.

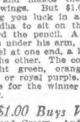
$1.00 Buys Gifts

At Penn's, the Florist, in the annex at 8 Hamilton Place, dingonally across from the flower shop you know so well, at 124 Tremont Street. And just because so many people don't know of this other shop with its shelves laden with fine old crockery and fine china from all over the world, Penn's have picked out some beautiful articles for $1.00 to introduce you to it. An exquisite vase of Japanese lustre, opalescent, orange or old blue, with bands of gold for $1.00. A lovely sterling flower basket of glass for the center of the table—a dish nearly 11 inches in width, most gracefully shaped and designed. Or a flower pot cover of Zane pottery in green or blue to go over the old red pot of your garden for $1.00, or two smaller ones at 50c each. But the real story is a whole table with treasures too numerous to mention in which Penn has put aside for us at this price.



$1.00 Buys a Frame

A $2.00, $3.00 or $4.00 lamp shade frame at The Frame Shop, on the 7th floor of the Little Building, 80 Boylston Street, provided you get the materials for it there too. Thus you can make a really lovely shade at a remarkable saving, because those big frames usually cost so much. I saw one the other day of stunning frames there; some shaped like those seen before



And the models they have! My dear, you cannot realize how splendidly different they are unless you see them. Of course, you may copy any of the models and the expert instruction is free. You will find lamp bases, taffeta pillows and many other lovely things there, too. For those who cannot go during the day, the shop is open Tuesday and Friday evenings, from 6 to 9 o'clock.

$1.00 Buys Pleasure

In working out Wilbur Whitehead's series of bridge lessons, published each day in this paper. For at the Seasonal Sales Store, 54 Chauncy Street, for a dollar it buys a card table cover of fine quality Indian head, in lavender, blue, orchid, rose, gold, peach and green, with inlaid hemstitching in black and white and clever elastic bands at each corner to hold it snug and tight. A cover which appeals to your sense of beauty, which gives the table a festive air and makes the game ride on wings. But $1.00 will also bring you luck in a little brass Buddha to sit on the table and guard the pencil. A silken cord runs under his arm, an exquisite tassel at one end, a leaded pencil at the other. The cords come in bright green, orange, crimson, gold or regal purple. A splendid prize for the winner of the evening.

$1.00 Buys Virozol

Almond Cream. And I wouldn't be fair to you or to this great golden dollar of ours if I failed to remind you that a jar of this splendid cream can be yours for $1.00. It is the hand maiden of the Virozol Complex, which goes into every home where Virozol Swedish Face and Bath has once made its way. For it completes the softening, toning and rejuvenating effect of that great astringent. Virozol Face Bath stimulates—but not too much; it tightens the muscles, but not too tight; it quickens the blood, but not too quick; for the Almond cream controls and soothes, and puts the delicate finish to the treatment. Yes, at Plotnick Bros., 47 Boylston Street, Virozol Almond Cream is but $1.00.

Faithfully yours,
Priscilla

It's the "Same Old Town"; no Deaths, Births, Marriages

Keene, N. H., March 4 (A.P.)—The vital statistics record at Rockwell Inn for year ending December 31, 1926, published in the annual town report, reveals the fact that this little town of those reference poll tax payers had no deaths, births or marriages.

It is believed that this unique record is without precedent in New Hampshire.

But what is not. There were no applications in the town during that period for aid from the overseer of the poor.

Build Strength in Place of Weakness

Perhaps you are one of many who are convalescing after a troublesome cold or cough or possibly grippe and find that your strength is at rather low ebb.

At such times it is all-important that you be well-nourished, and nothing quite equals pure, emulsified cod-liver oil to help build strength in place of weakness.

SCOTT'S EMULSION
OF PURE VITAMIN-TESTED COD-LIVER OIL

is the effective means that thousands use daily to help re-establish health and vigor. Containing as it does a wealth of health-promoting cod-liver oil vitamins it is the very help the weakened body needs.

If you are convalescing from a cold, cough, grippe or other respiratory infection—we strongly recommend the regular use of Scott's Emulsion for at least thirty days.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 27-4

THE WITTY SAYINGS OF MEDBURY

By JOHN P. MEDBURY

THERE'S a cattleman out in Montana who's becoming a millionaire by raising wooden horses for merry-go-rounds.

MOST of his ponies are so realistic that even the Prince of Wales can't stay on their backs.

HIS stallions are so lifelike that when one of them broke his leg the other day the owner had to shoot him.

HE has two merry-go-round horses at Nantasket that are suffering from the hoof and mouth disease.

THIS fellow has hundreds of cowboys who do nothing but ride the plains and lasso these wooden donkeys.

THE average animal is very stubborn and it takes months to teach them to run around in circles.

THE trainer usually gives them their lessons in a rotary club.

A DUXBURY sportsman owns a herd of merry-go-round ponies that are so natural he can't keep the horseflies away from them.

HE has to carry three veterinary surgeons with his carrousel.

HIS factory is in Texas and every year he has a round-up.

ANIMAL crackers from all over the country come to his rodeo.

INSTEAD of cowboys, he hires telephone linemen to ride his maple ponies.

THEY stick their spurs in the horses while he goes along with a bucket and catches the syrup.

HE not only controls the merry-go-round trade, but he takes care of the pancake industry.

THERE'S nine dollars worth of lumber in every stallion. When the horses get old, he buys them back and cuts them up into breakfast food.

NOTHING goes to waste except the tails and he sells those for toupees.

THE reason there's so much money in breeding merry-go-round horses is that the death rate is so low.

THE MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By HELEN ROWLAND

A LOVER, like a letter, is something which a woman never gives up hope of getting—and which she always expects to find in "the next mail."

Woman is the responsible sex—and the average man always lives either up to his wife's expectations or down to her suspicions.

* * *

If she ever listens in at the "husbands' allbi hour," the switchboard operator is apt to lose lots of her beautiful illusions about the sweet home life.

To Have Nice White Hands in Winter

Many women have recently learned how to have soft, pretty, white hands even in Winter, regardless of the kind of work they have to do. Many of our shop girls have beautiful, soft, pretty, white hands because they have learned how to care for them and at little cost. The secret lies in rubbing a little Ice-Mint into the hands occasionally, preferably just before retiring at night. In the morning you will be agreeably surprised at the pleasant transformation that has been wrought by even a single application. Ice-Mint is made from a Japanese product that is simply marvelous for its beautifying properties whether used on the hands or face. Regardless of what kind of work a woman does she should have pretty hands as they are really the true marks of refinement. A few applications of Ice-Mint will actually make any woman proud of her hands and skin. It costs little and is sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere.

A wife, like a dull toothache or chronic neuritis, is something of which a man is only half-conscious most of the time.

If marriage licenses cost as much as diamond rings and could be bought on the installment plan like furniture, fewer license clerks would be routed out of bed, at midnight, by impetuous young lovers.

* * *

Nowadays, the most convincing "business-life story" is that in which the poor young heroine works her way up from office girl to assistant manager and marries the beautiful irresponsible son of the Boss, to save his honor.

Alas, even while we are "marking time," Time is going right on marking us!

A man's first flame is an altar fire; his second a bon-fire; his last a quiet little hearth-fire.

SCRATCHED ITCHING SKIN UNTIL IT BLED

Relieved at once by a simple treatment

Evens City, Pa., April 2.—"Some time ago I had a bad case of eczema and vine poisoning. At times I scratched my skin until the blood ran. Then our family doctor advised me to use Resinol Soap and Ointment. I obtained relief at once and before long new, smooth skin had taken the place of the old sores. If Resinol should cost me twice as much I would never be without it as I do not think there is a soap or ointment on the market their equal and it seems to me I have tried almost all of them. Resinol Soap is most refreshing and pleasant to use and Resinol Ointment has a quick healing power. I have recommended these products to many people and expect to continue to do so." (Signed) E. J. NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.
4. Federal action the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary means to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

Some Mills Are Busy Day and Night

Textile Storm-clouds Passing; Silver Lining Visible

Increasing evidence that New England has weathered the worst of the long textile storm is furnished from day to day by the news dispatches.

In Fall River, the Granite Mills, employing several hundred persons, are being run at night to meet orders which, superintendent Ira R. Hays says, "we have to get out."

At least one other Fall River mill is operating both day and night shifts.

Similar good news comes from Somersworth, N. H., where the Great Falls Bleachery and Dye Works is in continuous operation.

The fact appears to be that one of our greatest industries is staging a come-back. Far-seeing gentlemen have been saying for several months that the only solution of the problems confronting the cotton textile business was a "readjustment to present conditions." Evidence is piling up that this readjustment is well under way.

Perhaps that statement should be qualified a little. The industry is staging a come-back wherever its leaders have discerned and admitted the NEED of such readjustment. Mills in the hands of executives who will NOT recognize or admit that necessity are still in difficulties.

This New England of ours possesses every natural advantage it ever possessed. It was made industrially great by men of courage, confidence and capacity. The present appears to be a testing-time for the sons and grandsons of the pioneers. If courage, confidence and capacity have come down to them along with their inherited wealth and leadership, the future of New England industry is nothing to worry about. Intensely interested in, yes; worried about, no.

We look for more textile news equally as cheering as that which has begun to come from Fall River. Cotton mills which over-expanded during the boom times of war days, like woolen mills which took on hundreds of extra hands because of the Government's demand for military blankets and uniform cloth, will fall by the wayside if they have not already done so.

Wherever the newer, younger textile leaders are in the saddle, men who are by no means satisfied that their pickers and cards, drawing frames, spinning machines and looms are the ultimate perfection of human achievement, wherever young men of demonstrated textile resourcefulness are in command, the textile industry is finding its way.

What we see, at last, is the silver lining.

Progress on Mont Blanc

Astronomers Fed by Airplane

AN AIRPLANE ABOVE THE ALPS DROPPING PROVISIONS ATTACHED TO A PARACHUTE. ARROW POINTS TO THE PARACHUTE.

Monsieur Prud'homme, able French astronomer, and his assistants are working in an observatory on the top of Mont Blanc, highest peak in Europe.

Snows make it impossible at this season for the observers to descend or for others to go to them.

This picture shows how easily mountains, precipices and snows are conquered by science.

The astronomers attend to their work peaceably, and from time to time an airplane like the one you see here starts from the peaceful valley below, climbs into the clouds above Mont Blanc, then drops, attached to a parachute, sufficient provisions to carry on the work of the scientists.

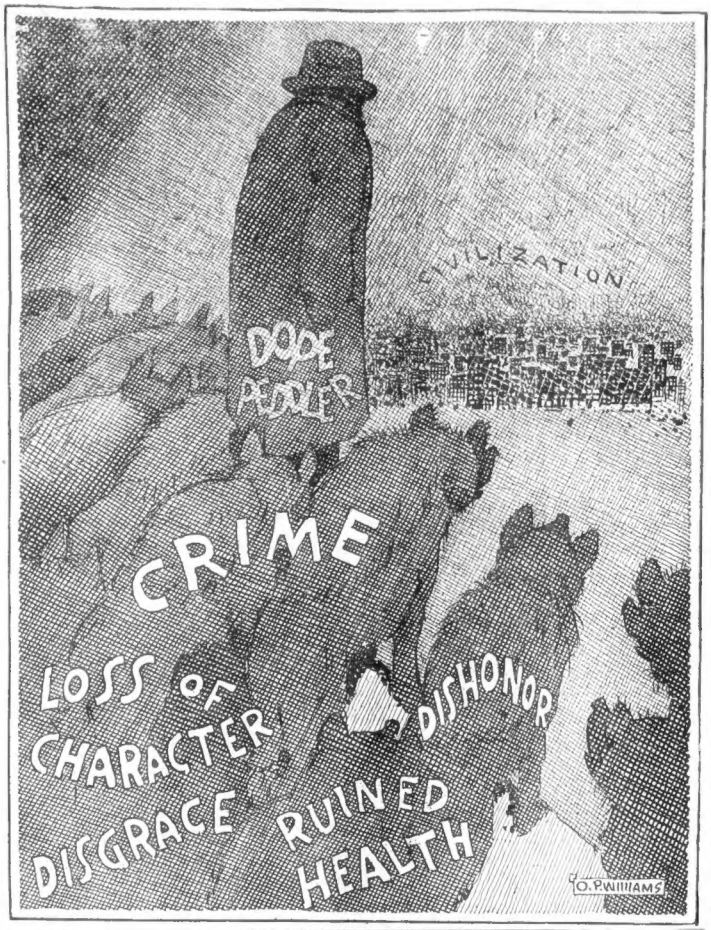
PICKING UP THE PROVISIONS ON THE MOUNTAINS.

The parachute is well aimed, the provisions reach their destination, as you see in the little picture on the left.

This is a beautiful picture of science, AIDED by science. The astronomers, whose occupation is the most noble on earth, stick to their work on the mountain top, while fliers, conquering height and the law of gravitation, carry to them all that they need.

This picture adds dignity to the history of the human race, and promises, amid miserable wars, struggling selfishness and poverty, a glorious future in the centuries that are to come.

The Pack and Its Leader -:- By O. P. Williams



IN DEFENSE OF THE MODERN FLAPPER

By DR. FRANK CRANE

BRUCE FINDLAY, assistant superintendent of Los Angeles schools, in an address the other day asked:

"Why should we assume that the flapper of 1927 will make a poorer mother than the 'flapper' of yesterday, who has been her mother?"

There is just as much to the modern girl as there ever was to her ancestor. The fact that she wears short skirts and bobs her hair is not against her. She wears less clothing than her ancestors and is consequently healthier.

She is more addicted to outdoor sports with beneficial results.

Altogether the modern flapper of today is just as well prepared for motherhood as was her mother, and better than she.

There is no more danger to a girl from taking an automobile ride than there was from taking a buggy ride.

Of course dissipation and late hours are bad for anyone and in proportion as a woman indulges in this she is endangering her health and endangering posterity.

But take it all in all the girl of today is quite as sensible as her mother was yesterday and we may look forward with confidence to the future of the race.

It never was in better hands. Those of today are just as serious-minded as their mothers were the day before.

Virtue is not to be founded upon ignorance but upon knowledge, and if the girl of today knows more than her mother did it helps her and does not hinder her.

She is prepared to be a man's partner and equal and not his slave and plaything and in this respect she has the advantage over former years.

As far as I am concerned, the girls of today are healthier, better-looking and more desirable as companions than were the girls of yesterday.

This old world is bumping merrily along and some things about it some people don't like, but on the whole it is improving.

BOSTON DAY BY DAY

MADE GOOD

POSTOFFICE INSPECTOR THOMAS J. CRONIN is busy acknowledging congratulations from all sides for his part in tracking down and aiding in the conviction of the three Salisbury mail robbers. It was TOM'S first big case since he has become one of the government sleuths and his creditable performance has already attracted the attention of his superiors down in WASHINGTON.

STILL IN HARNESS

PATROLMAN WILLIAM FALLON of MILTON, whose fame was flashed across the country from one end to another 25 years ago for arresting WILLIAM K. VANDERBILT for automobile speeding when cars were curiosities, is still in the harness. For many years, in civilian clothes and driving his old steam auto, he was the terror of speeding motorists. Now, however, he has discarded the steamer and lets the younger officers handle the speed demons.

HANNAUER A SURPRISE

PRESIDENT GEORGE HANNAUER of the Boston & Maine Railroad, who assumed his important duties as head of the great New England system this year, has proved a surprise to fellow workers. Instead of strolling in around 11 a. m., he appears at his desk sharply at 8:30 a. m., and puts in long hours expending a vast deal of energy.

YOUNG MILL TREASURERS

Who is the youngest mill treasurer in New England? The honor was first claimed for W. B. WEISSBLATT of the Contoocook Mills of Hillsboro, N. H., with Boston offices. MR. WEISSBLATT, a former newspaper publisher, is 31. Shove Mills of Fall River come into the limelight with CHRIS C. ROUNDVILLE, who was recently re-elected for his seventh term as treasurer at the age of 29. He was first made treasurer when 22 years old. Is there a younger?

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

It is some compensation for great evils that they enforce great lessons. —Bovee.

We love in others what we lack ourselves, and would be everything but what we are.—Stoddard.

He who hath most of heart knows most of sorrow.—Bailey.

The greatest happiness comes from the greatest activity.—Bovee.

No really great man ever thought himself so.—Hazlitt.

The mill will never grind with water that is past.—MacCullum.

Each day is the scholar of yesterday.—Syrus.

The devil tempts us not—'tis we tempt him.

Reckoning his skill with opportunity. —George Eliot.

Which Has Changed More?

The Girls or the Car? Be Sure to See the Motor Show

OUT OF THE OLD DAYS. THIS PICTURE WAS TAKEN ONLY TWENTY-SIX YEARS AGO. WHAT CHANGES SINCE THEN!

The cars are bigger, the girls of our day are smaller, or at least thinner.

Cars have different hoods, girls have different hats. Cars have smaller wheels, young ladies have higher skirts and more stockings.

The dresses have changed, the bodies of cars have changed. Automobile bodies are bigger, girls' bodies are thinner. Automobile engines are LESS noisy, girls are MORE noisy.

We all know that there has been great progress in the automobile.

We do not feel QUITE so sure about the girls.

But we hope for the best. Anyhow, this is how they—girls and motors—looked twenty-six years ago. The world changes rapidly.

P.S.—Whether you are a boy or a girl, no matter what you look like, if you haven't got your car yet, GO AND GET IT.

Or, if you think it is time to have a new one, go and get THAT. And, above all, be sure to go NOW to the great automobile exhibition at Mechanics Building. It opens tomorrow.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

EMILY WINTERS is a Bad Mother.

Her neighbors would be shocked if they heard me say that. They would indignantly point out how hard Mrs. Winters works—how she never neglects Thelma or Roger—how the meals are always punctual and the house spotless—how much she has saved out of Mr. Winters' small salary—

"Why, she's a perfectly wonderful mother!" they'd cry.

Let's see.

It is true that Emily works hard, that she is intensely loyal to her home and family, that she is a good manager. And yet, in spite of the good cooking, the careful service, there's something wrong.

Thirteen-year-old Thelma is always ailing. She's a morbid, moody child—folks say she's "queer"—although she seems bright enough, she is always failing behind in school—has absent-minded spells—cries easily.

Both Happy Children

Roger who's eleven, isn't getting on very well, either. Roger seems healthy enough and has a fair average at school. But he is developing into a sulky, irritable boy. Carries a chip on his shoulder all the time. Even the friendliest teachers find him stubborn and suspicious.

It's strange, for both Thelma and Roger were happy little tikes. Jolly, good-natured little rascals—not an abnormal thing about them. Just within the last four years they've been getting this way. Wonder what ails them?

It's a common enough story and all the more tragic for its commonness. Emily was an ambitious, proud girl when she married Ian Winters, fourteen years ago. She was twenty then, in her second year of college, and her folks told her that she was foolish to give up a career and marry a struggling engineer. But Emily was spoiled—she wanted her own way and she had it.

Don't Quarrel—Much

Before six months had passed she had repented of her bargain. But Baby Thelma was already on the way and Emily didn't believe in divorce. She stuck by Dan—but she has never let him forget the fact that he has "ruined her life"—

No, they don't quarrel any more than most married folks. And I suppose in their way they are still fond of each other. But always there is that gnawing resentment in Emily's heart. And as soon as the children grew old enough to listen, she began telling them about it.

If the living room rug is shabby she tells Thelma how much nicer it would be if her father earned as much as Stella Reynolds's. If Roger wants a camping outfit she tells him that poor boys can't expect things like that.

She doesn't make these remarks violently or with marked malice. Perhaps she doesn't realize that they are malicious at all. But always the miasma of her discontent pervades the house like an infection.

It IS an infection and it is breeding sick minds in her children. They feel in a vague way that they have been wronged—cheated out of things which other children have. They see their home as a shabby, unsuccessful place. They both feel inferior. Thelma shows it in her increasing sensitiveness and morbidness. Roger shows it in his suspicion and irritability.

Yet the neighbors think Mrs. Emily is a Good Mother.
